Presently, the Corporation is having in-house Internal Audit (IA) system which is in the nature of concurrent audit. He also submits internal audit report on monthly basis. The scope of the internal audit firm functions covers all the area of the operations. The functions, roles and duties of Internal Auditor to ensure that all the areas of operations are covered, records are maintained upto date and the various laid down procedure and policies of the Corporation are implemented.

With a view to have independence of the internal audit and to further strengthen the internal audit system in the branches, the Corporation proposes to appoint reputed, well experience Chartered Accountants firms to undertake the internal audit work at branches.

The following are the broad guidelines for internal audit functions, roles and duties:-

A) Objectives of Internal Audit

Internal audit is an independent appraisal function of the Corporation. It objectively examines, evaluates and reports on the internal control systems after thorough verification. The internal audit should exercise due care in fulfilling his responsibilities. It should adequately plan, control and record his work on daily basis. It should identify and evaluate the organization's internal control system as a basis for reporting upon its adequacy and effectiveness.

The internal auditor should ensure that findings, conclusions and recommendations arising from internal audit work are communicated promptly to the Branch under intimation to Head office and should seek response on the same. He should ensure that arrangements are made to follow up audit observations to monitor what action has been taken on them. He should be able to exercise judgment, express opinions and present recommendations with impartiality. The internal auditor, notwithstanding his employment by the Corporation, should be free from any conflict of interest.

B) Organizational relationships

The internal auditor prepares the internal audit plan in consultation with the Branch/Head office so as to identify the areas of concern. Matters which arise in the course of the audit be discussed directly with the Branch. Further, the discussions and comments of the Branch is necessary on the monthly audit report. The Internal audit is an independent appraisal function within the organization whereas the statutory auditor has a statutory responsibility to express an independent opinion on the financial statements. The internal audit will be required to allow access to the records and reports to the Statutory/CAG audit as and when conducted. Since internal audit evaluates an organization's internal control system the Statutory/CAG audit may need to be satisfied that the internal audit function is being planned and performed effectively.

C) Performance and Control.

The internal auditor should be able to show that his work has been performed in a way which is consistent with this guideline. The internal auditor should possess a knowledge of the aims of the Corporation and the internal control system and aware of the relevant applicable laws.

Internal audit work should be planned, controlled and recorded in order to determine priorities, establish and achieve objectives, and ensure the effective and efficient use of audit resources. Internal audit is needed to ensure that internal audit objectives are achieved and work is performed effectively. The internal audit needs to be able to ensure that work delegated has been properly performed and detailed working papers are maintained.

The main objective of the internal Audit is to ensure adherence to management policies and directives, safeguard of assets, completeness and accuracy of records and compliance with statutory requirements etc.

D) Reports

Before issuing the final report, the internal auditor should normally discuss the contents with the Finance Head and Branch Head and may submit a draft report to them, for confirmation of factual accuracy and their comments. Final monthly internal audit report is required to be submitted to the HO under copy to branch.
